“ A memory of Aunt Grace? Hmmm. I can't come up with just one, there are so many. I remember going to the cabin in Lake George with Aunt Grace, Nana, and Grandpa, sitting on the front porch in those green metal rocking chairs. I remember sitting around the dining room table playing Pokeno and Rummy for pennies on a Friday night. The trip to Englishtown flea market. Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, New Year's Eve, she was always around for the holidays when we were growing up, even when we moved to VA she would be there. Aunt Grace was always there for my boys, she even helped Evan check to make sure they put pawpaw's teeth in before everyone showed up for his viewing. When I was making trips to stay with her while she was going through her treatments, my car was always full of stuff she would send home for Evan (anything from knife sets to sausage to grapes). The trips Aunt Grace would make to VA with a car full of bagels and sausage 'cause you just can't buy that stuff in VA. So many wonderful memories, I can't pick just one. We love you Aunt Grace!
